Elsa's Dream, Lohengrin, Act 1

Einsam in trüben Tagen
hab ich zu Gott gefleht, des Herzens tiefstes Klagen ergoss ich im Gebet. - Da drang aus meinem Stöhnen ein Laut so klagevoll, der zu gewalt'gem Tönen weit in die Lüfte schwoll: - Ich hört ihn fernhin hallen, bis kaum mein Ohr er traf;
mein Aug ist zugefallen,
ich sank in süßen Schlaf.

In Lichter Waffen Scheine
ein Ritter nahte da,
so tugendlicher Reine
ich keinen noch ersah:
Ein golden Horn zur Hüften, gelehnet auf sein Schwert, - so trat er aus den Lüften zu mir, der Recke wert;
mit züchtigem Gebaren gab Tröstung er mir ein; - des Ritters will ich wahren, er soll mein Streiter sein!

Hört, was dem Gottgesandten ich biete für Gewähr: - In meines Vaters Landen
die Krone trage er;
mich glücklich soll ich preisen, nimmt er mein Gut dahin, - will er Gemahl mich heissen, geb ich ihm, was ich bin!

Lonely, in troubled days
I prayed to the Lord,
my most heartfelt grief
I poured out in prayer.
And from my groans
there issued a plaintive sound that grew into a righteous roar as it echoed through the skies:
I listened as it receded into the distance until my ear could scarce hear it;
my eyes closed
and I fell into a deep sleep.

In splendid, shining armour a knight approached,
a man of such pure virtue
as I had never seen before:
a golden horn at his side,
leaning on a sword - thus he appeared to me
from nowhere, this warrior true;
with kindly gestures
he gave me comfort;
I will wait for the knight,
he shall be my champion!

Hear what reward I offer
the one sent by God:
in my father's lands
he shall wear the crown.
I shall consider myself happy if he takes my possessions - if he wishes to call me spouse,
I shall give him all that I am!

Wesendonck-Lieder

Der Engel

In der Kindheit frühen Tagen
Hört ich oft von Engeln sagen,
Die des Himmels hehre Wonne
Tauschen mit der Erdensonne,

Daß, wo bang ein Herz in Sorgen
Schmachtet vor der Welt verborgen, Daß, wo still es will verbluten,
Und vergehn in Tränenfluten,

Daß, wo brünstig sein Gebet Einzig um Erlösung fleht,
Da der Engel niederschwebt,
Und es sanft gen Himmel hebt.

Ja, es stieg auch mir ein Engel nieder,
Und auf leuchtendem Gefieder
Führt er, ferne jedem Schmerz, Meinen Geist nun himmelwärts!

The Angel

In my childhood's early days oft I heard tales of angels who trade heaven's blissful sublimity for the earth's sunshine;

heard that, when a heart in sorrow hides its grief from the world, that it bleeds in silence, and dissolves in tears,

offers fervent prayers
for deliverance:
then the angel flies down
and bears it gently to heaven.

Yes, an angel came down to me also and on shining wings
bears my spirit from all pains heavenwards.

Stehe still!

Sausendes, brausendes Rad der Zeit,
Messer du der Ewigkeit;
Leuchtende Sphären im weiten All,
Die ihr umringt der Weltenball;
Urewige Schöpfung, halte doch ein,
Genug des Werdens, laß mich sein!

Halte an dich, zeugene Kraft,
Urgedanke, der ewig schafft!
Hemmet den Atem, stillet den Drang, Schweigt nur eine Sekunde lang!
Schwellende Pulse, fesselt den Schlag; Ende, des Wollens ew'ger Tag!

Daß in selig süßem Vergessen
Ich mög' alle Wonne ermessen!

Wenn Auge in Auge wonnig trinken,
Sehe ganz in Seile versinken;
Wesen in Wesen sich wiederfindet,
Und alles Hoffens Ende sich kündet,
Die Lippe verstummt in staundendem
Schweigen,
Keinen Wunsch mehr will das Inne zeugen:
Erkennt der Mensch des Ew'gen Spur,
Und löst dein Rätsel, heil'ge Natur!

Stand Still!

Rushing, roaring wheel of time,
you measure of eternity,
shining spheres in the vast firmament,
you that encircle our earthly sphere:
eternal creation, stop!
Enough of becoming: let me be!

Cease, generative powers, primal thought, that endlessly creates;
stop every breath,
still every urge, give but one moment of peace!
Swelling pulses, restrain your beating:
end, eternal day of the will!

So that in sweet forgetfulness
I may taste the full measure of my joy!

When eye gazes blissfully into eye, soul drowns in soul
being finds itself in being,
and the goal of all hopes is near;
when lips are mute in silent amazement and the soul has no further wish:

man knows eternity's footprint
and solves your riddle, divine Nature!

Im Treibhaus

Hochgewölbte Blätterkronen,
Baldachine von Smaragd,
Kinder ihr aus fernen Zonen, Saget mir, warum ihr klagt?

Schweigend neigtet ihr die Zweige, Malet Zeichen in die Luft,
Unde der Leiden stummer Zeuge
Steiget aufwärts, süßer Duft.

Weit in sehndem Verlangen
Breitet ihr die Arme aus
Und umschlinget wahnbefangen Öder Leere nicht'gen Graus.

Wohl ich weiß es, arme Pflanze:
Ein Geschicke teilen wir,
Ob umstrahlt von Licht und Glanze, Unsre Heimat is nicht hier!

Und wie froh die Sonne scheidet
Von des Tages leerem Schein, Hullet der, der wahrhaft leidet,
Sich in Schweigens Dunkel ein.

Stille wird's ein säuselnd Weben Fullet bang den dunklen Raum:
Schwere Tropfen seh' ich schweben
An der Blätter grunem Saum.

In the Hothouse

High-arching leafy crowns, canopies of emerald
you children of distant lands, tell me, why do you lament?

Silently you incline your branches,
tracing signs in the air,
and, mute witness to your sorrows,
there rises a sweet perfume.

Wide in longing and desire you spread your arms out and embrace, in self-deception barren emptiness, a fearful void.

Well I know it, poor plant!
We share the same fate.
Although the light shines brightly round us,
our home is not here!

And, as the sun gladly quits
day's empty brightness, so he who truly suffers wraps himself in the dark mantel of silence.

It grows quiet, an anxious rustling fills the dark room;
I see the heavy drops hanging from the leaves' green edges.

Schmerzen

Sonne, weinest jeden Abend
Dir die Schönen Augen rot,
Wenn im Meeresspiegel badend
Dich erreicht der frühe Tod;

Doch erstehst in alter Pracht,
Glorie der düstren Welt,
Du am Morgen, neu erwacht,
Wie ein stolzer Siegesheld!

Ach, wie sollte ich da klagen,
Wie, mein Herz, so schwer dich sehn,
Muß die Sonne selbst verzagen, Muß die Sonne untergehn?

Und gebietet Tod nur Leben, Geben Schmerzen Wonnen nur:
O wie dank'ich daß gegeben
Solche Schmerzen mir Natur.

Träume

Sag', Welch' wunderbare Träume
Halten meinen Sinn umfangen,
Daß sie nicht wie leere Schäume
Sind in ödes Nichts vergangen?

Träume, die in jeder Stunde,
Jedem Tage schöner blühn
Und mit ihrer Himmelskunde
Selig durchs Gemüte ziehn?

Träume, die wie hehere Strahlen
In die Seele sich versenken Dort ein ewig Bild zu malen; Allvergessen, Eingedenken!

Träume, wie wenn Frühlingsonne
Aus dem Schnee die Blüten küßt,
Daß zu nie gehörter Wonne
Sie der neue Tage begrüßt,

Daß sie wachsen, daß sie blühen,
Träumend spenden ihren Duft,
Sanft an deiner Brust verglühen
Und dann sinken in die Gruft.

Sorrows

Sun, you weep every evening until your lovely eyes are red,
when, bathing in the sea,
you are overtaken by your early death:

but you rise again in your former splendour,
the glory of the dark world;
fresh awakened in the morning
like a proud and conquering hero!

Ah, then, why should I complain, why should my heart be so heavy,
if the sun itself must despair,
if the sun itself must go down?

And, if only death gives birth to life, if only torment brings bliss:
then how thankful I am that Nature has given me such sorrows.

Dreams

Say, what wondrous dreams
hold my soul captive,
and have not, like bubbles,
disappeared into darkest night?

Dreams, which in every hour of every day beautifully bloom and with their heavenly imitations blissfully float through my mind?

Dreams, that like glorious rays penetrate the soul,
there to leave an everlasting impression:
All-forgetting, single-minded!

Dreams, as when the spring sun kisses blossoms from the snow, that to undreamed-of bliss
the new day can greet them,

So they grow, so they flower, dreamily casting their scent,
softly fade upon your breast,
and then sink into their grave

Der Männer Sippe

Sieglinde

Schlafst du, Gast?
Ich bin's: höre mich an!
In tiefem Schlaf liegt Hunding;
ich würzt' ihm betäubenden Trank:
nütze die Nacht dir zum Heil!
Eine Waffe lass mich dir weisen:
o wenn du sie gewännst!
Den hehrsten Helden
dürft' ich dich heissen:
dem Stärksten allein
ward sie bestimmt.

O merke wohl, was ich dir melde!
Der Männer Sippe
sass hier im Saal,
von Hunding zur Hochzeit geladen:
er freite ein Weib,
das ungefragt
Schächer ihm schenkten zur Frau.
Traurig sass ich,
während sie tranken;
ein Fremder trat da herein:
ein Greis in blauem Gewand;
tief hing ihm der Hut,
der deckt' ihm der Augen eines;
doch des andren Strahl, Angst schuf es allen,
traf die Männer
sein mächtiges Dräu'n.
mir allein
weckte das Auge
süss sehnenden Harm,
Tränen und Trost zugleich.
Auf mich blickt' er
und blitzte auf jene,

Die Walküre Act 1

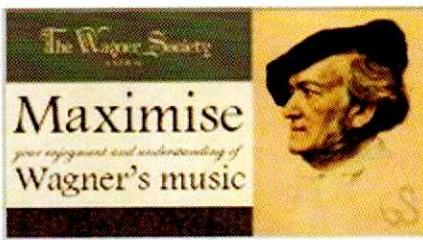

Sieglinde

Are you asleep, guest?
It is I: listen to me!
Hunding is sound asleep.
I made him a drugged drink;
use the night to save yourself
Let me show you a sword:
o if only you could get it!
I could acclaim you
as the noblest of heroes;
It was intended for the strongest alone.

O listen carefully to what I tell you!
The men of his family
sat in the room here,
they were guests at Hunding's wedding.
He was marrying a woman who, without being asked,
robbers had made wife.
Sadly I sat
while they drank.
A stranger came in,
an old man in a grey cloak;
his hat was pulled down
so as to cover one eye.
But the glint of the other made them all afraid, when the men saw
its authority and sternness.
To me alone
his eye suggested
sweet, longing sadness,
tears and comfort both together.
He looked at me
and glowered at them

als ein Schwert in Händen er schwang;
das stiess er nun
in der Esche Stamm,
bis zum Heft haftet' es drin:
dem sollte der Stahl geziemen, der aus dem Stamm' es zög'.
Der Männer alle,
so kühn sie sich mühten,
die Wehr sich keiner gewann; Gäste kamen
und Gäste gingen, die stärksten zogen am Stahl - keinen Zoll entwich er dem Stamm:
dort haftet schweigend das Schwert. - Da wusst' ich, wer der war, der mich Gramvolle gegrüsst;
ich weiss auch,
wem allein
im Stamm das Schwert er bestimmt.
O fänd' ich ihn heut'
und hier, den Freund;
käm' er aus Fremden
zur ärmsten Frau.
Was je ich gelitten
in grimmigem Leid,
was je mich geschmerzt
in Schande und Schmach, - süsseste Rache
sühnte dann alles!
Erjagt hätt' ich,
was je ich verlor,
was je ich beweint,
wär' mir gewonnen,
fänd' ich den heiligen Freund, umfing' den Helden mein Arm!

while a sword flashed in his hand.
This he thrust
in the tree trunk,
it lodged there right up to the hilt.
The blade would belong to anyone who pulled it out of the tree.
All the men,
bravely as they tried,
failed to win the weapon.
Visitors came
and visitors went.
The strongest tugged at the hilt,
but it moved not an inch from the tree.
The sword remains silently there.
Then I knew who is was that had greeted me in my grief:
and I know too
for whom alone
he fixed the sword in the tree.
Oh! Could I find him now and here, that friend,
if he came from far away
to the most miserable of women:
all that I suffered in bitter sorrow,
all that caused me pain
in my shame and dishonour - sweetest revenge
would pay for it all!
I would retrieve
what I lost;
what I wept for
would be won back to me;
if I found this sacred friend my arms would embrace him as a hero.
